1 Lectures and Events

Internal

1.1 Oxford University Poetry Society – Events

The 20th Century Reading Group will be meeting on Tuesday (29th of November) to discuss the poetry of Thomas Hardy. The meeting will take place in the English Faculty building at 6pm. This week we will be joined by Ralph Pite, Professor of English at Bristol University. As always, there will be free wine, a relaxed atmosphere and plenty to go home thinking about.

Gin and Phonics are hosting The Winter Warmer Festival at The Varsity Club Oxford. Four stages will feature 25 different acts and there will be a stage for spoken word and comedy acts. More information and tickets can be found at the following link:

<https://www.facebook.com/events/1679120029065304/>

On Saturday 10th of December the Friends of the Bodleian are putting on a special event marking the occasion of Philip Larkin being honoured with a memorial in Poets' Corner at Westminster Abbey early next month. The event will be held at 6pm in the Weston Library Oliver Ford Davies and Triona Adams will be reading letters Philip Larkin wrote to Barbara Pym and she to him. They will be introduced by Anthony Thwaite, OBE. After the reading there will be refreshments and an opportunity to chat to the actors.

1.4 Jim Hubbard Screening in London

Four films by Jim Hubbard
Screening and Director Q&A
8 - 10pm, Friday, 9 December 2016
The Cinema Museum, 2 Dugard Way, London, SE11 4TH

Tickets available here: £4 full price, £3 students

Jim Hubbard has been making experimental films that explore lesbian and gay activism and community-building since the mid-1970s. In 1987, he co-founded MIX NYC, the New York Lesbian and Gay Experimental Film Festival with the writer and activist Sarah Schulman, and in 2012 he directed and co-produced the documentary United in Anger: A History of ACT UP (2012). Hubbard and Schulman also coordinate the ACT UP Oral History Project, a collection of interviews with surviving members of the AIDS Coalition to Unleash Power, New York.

For this rare UK screening, Hubbard will show four short films that were shot in the 1970s and 1980s, and that deal with themes of loss, memory, activism, and empowerment: Stop the Movie (Cruising) (1980), Two Marches (1991), Elegy in the Streets (1989), and Speak for Yourself (1990).

The filmmaker will be present for an audience Q&A after the screening.

This screening has been co-organised by the EUROPACH (Disentangling European HIV/AIDS Policies: Activism, Citizenship and Health) and CRUSEV (Cruising the Seventies: Unearthing Pre-HIV/AIDS Sexual Cultures) research initiatives. Both projects are funded by HERA under their Joint Research Programme 'The Uses of the Past.'

2 Calls for Papers

2.1 Mester 2016-17

Funding & Prizes

3.1 Daiwa Scholarships and the Daiwa Scholarships in Japanese Studies

Below is some information about the Daiwa Scholarships and the Daiwa Scholarships in Japanese Studies. Both are exclusively for UK nationals. The first Scholarship is not open to those who have studied Japanese, while the second (launched in 2015) is aimed at those who have degrees in Japanese.

The deadline for Daiwa Scholarships is the 1st December 2016 and the deadline for the Daiwa Scholarships in Japanese Studies is the 26 January 2017.

Daiwa Scholarships – study and work in Japan

The Daiwa Scholarship is a unique 19-month programme of language study, work placement and homestay in Japan, following a month of Japanese tuition in the UK. Daiwa Scholarships offer young and talented UK citizens with strong leadership potential, the opportunity to acquire Japanese language skills, and to access expertise and knowledge relevant to their career goals.

Japanese language knowledge is not required.

The intensive Japanese language course is held at the Tokyo School of the Japanese Language (Naganuma School). Following the homestay period spent living with a family outside Tokyo, full-time work placements appropriate to each Daiwa Scholar's career goals are arranged.

Alumni include Professor Hugo Dobson, Head, Department of East Asian Studies at Sheffield University, James Harding, former editor of The Times and now Head, BBC News and Current Affairs, Professor Edmund de Waal OBE, ceramicists and author of The Hare with Amber Eyes, Dr Carl Randall, artist and winner of the 2012 BP Travel Award at the National Portrait Gallery, Natasha Pulley, author of The Watchmaker of Filigree Street and Dr Chris Harding, Lecturer in Asian History at the University of Edinburgh and selected a New Generation Thinker 2013 by the AHRC and Radio 3.

Benefits

Return flight to Japan, accommodation in Tokyo whilst the Scholar is seeking a flat, all tuition and examination costs, a living allowance for the duration of the Scholarship which is to cover accommodation and living costs for a single person (¥260,000 per month)

Requirements

Candidates must be: • British citizens aged between 21 and 35 years of age by the time of departure.

Candidates should be:

• graduates or due to graduate by the time of departure, equipped with a strong degree in any subject* or with a strong record of achievement in their field and in possession of clear career objectives combined with a serious interest in Japan.

3.5 4 Post-Doctoral Research Assistant Posts - AHRC-funded 'Language Acts and Worldmaking' (Open World Research Initiative Flagship Project)

The AHRC-funded 'Language Acts and Worldmaking' research project (one of the four projects in the Open World Research Initiative [OWRI] programme) seeks applicants for 4 PDRA posts.

There is a single link for all of the 4 PDRA appointments currently being advertised: <http://languageacts.org/jobs.html> (there will shortly also be a further post advertised at Queen Mary University of London).

Please note the summary below. Although the project has a primary focus on Iberia, its global empires and contact zones, those linguistic and cultural contact zones across Europe, Asia, Africa and the Americas obviously include French language and French and Francophone cultures.

Language Acts and Worldmaking

Post-Doctoral Research Assistants Language Acts and Worldmaking is a flagship project funded by the AHRC Open World Research Initiative. In it we aim to illuminate the ways in which language empowers us by enabling us to construct our personal, local, transnational and spiritual identities, and constrains us by carrying unexamined ideological baggage. It is this dialectic that we call 'worldmaking'. The project is made up of 6 research strands that provide different, but overlapping, perspectives on our central research questions, which explore language as a material and historical force, foregrounding language's power to shape how we live, and realising the potential of Modern Language learning to open pathways between worlds past and present. We are seeking to recruit 5 Post-Doctoral Research Assistants who will each work on a specific strand, as well as across the project as a whole. (A link for the fifth post will be provided soon.) We are keen to receive applications from a broad range of disciplines, and so encourage those with a background in related areas of the Humanities or Social Sciences to apply. Similarly, although the initial focus of the project is Spanish and Portuguese language, we also encourage those with knowledge of other languages to apply.

If you have questions please contact: Rhosyn Tuta, languageacts@kcl.ac.uk.

3.6 Paid Teaching and Staff Opportunities in Oxford

August 19 till September 2

We prefer tutors to stay periods longest possible for them.

Anyway each tutor might have holiday weeks in-between (the exact holiday time will be decided just before your arrival; so basically you need to keep free ALL weeks you apply for) and you would be needed as a tutor in the camp weeks from 9-12.30 on Mondays to Fridays OR as a group leader from 12.30 – 16.30 in the afternoons. So up to the respective programme in the week, you will work mornings OR afternoons. Mornings will be tutoring, afternoons will be games and entertainment. It is required that you are able to ride a bicycle! Besides the camp times you will not have to do a lot, just prepare a bit for the lessons in case you work mornings, the camp certificates for the kids etc.; in total this will take about 2 hours additional time each week (for morning work). The rest is free time. We have lots of materials, games, books, worksheets to use with the children so no upfront preparation is necessary! Your job is to come to Austria and use your creativity here to do good teaching using the games and materials we have, resp. if you work afternoons to just do nice stuff and games with the kids!

The children will be between 7 and 14 years and although the use of German is not necessary, it can be useful at times and there will also be the opportunity for you to practise your German in a German environment. Groups are between 3 and 9 kids per tutor.

Not only is this a good experience for everyone involved, you will also get a letter of recommendation for whom you may need. Previously we have had tutors from England, America and Australia (some German students, but not all) who say it is a really good experience.

We offer free accommodation here in Mödling near Vienna (apartments to be shared), including internet access and also pay some pocket money for each camp week (EUR 70,-- per week). You will have to buy your own food. The camps are in the mornings mainly inside, in the afternoons inside and outdoors (this is why you need to be able to ride a bike). More information about the camp location can be found here: www.book-cook.at

We are looking for tutors who are 18 years old or above and of course, should be interested in and enjoy working with children!

During your time here you will have a lot of free time to visit Mödling and Vienna which are both beautiful. You can find more information about Mödling here: www.moedling.at and Vienna is only 40 minutes away by public transport (which is also reasonably priced). You will also receive a bicycle to use in Mödling as it is a very friendly cycling town.

Please send a CV and information on yourself to wessely@gmail.com.
