1.1 New Perspectives on Censorship under Communism

1.2 Conference: "The Transnational Dimension of Portuguese Modernism: A Centenary Celebration of Orpheu"

International Conference – 7th November – St. Peter's College, Oxford

Late March 1915. Lisbon. A new literary and art magazine was published. Its name: Orpheu. its contents: unconventional, inconvenient, incomprehensible. 'on their way to asylum', 'kids playing with Futurism' – the press reacted ferociously but could not contain the blast. Featuring a generation of avant-garde Portuguese poets and artists, such as Fernando Pessoa, Mário de Sá-Carneiro, Almada Negreiros and Amadeo de Souza-Cardoso, the magazine only managed two published issues (a third was left in draft form). Enough, however, to prompt a legacy that reverberates through the twentieth century.

As we commemorate the first centenary of Portuguese Modernism, this conference seeks to highlight the transnational cultural exchanges that helped to shape it and, moreover, showcase its multiple dialogues with European and Brazilian modernity.

1.5 Catalan Language and Culture at Oxford

Catalan language, literature and culture has developed its own unique and universal identity over the centuries. If you would like to discover the culture of artists like Gaudí, Miró and Dalí and learn a romance language spoken by more than nine million people, you have a great opportunity to do so at Oxford.

1.7 The Impact Werkstatt is Back!

Henrike Lähnemann writes: Every Friday, 3-5pm, during term time (starting Week 1), there will again be the opportunity to drop in and brainstorm on all matters closely or loosely related to impact over a cup of tea at my office, 41 Wellington Square, 2nd floor. Ideas from any stage of a research welcome – whether you are just starting to think about a new idea for a project or are at the stage of submitting a completed monograph; please, also encourage graduate students to come along with their work – the more we know about what projects are currently undertaken across the Faculty, the better we will be able to link and create synergies. Looking forward to the shared conversation!

Next week:

The first Impact Werkstatt of the year takes place this Friday, 3-5pm, at Henrike Lähnemann's office 41 Wellington Square, 2nd floor. You are welcome to drop by without previous arrangement but if you want to give her the chance to look at your ideas in advance, send her an email (henrike.laehnemann@mod-langs.ox.ac.uk)

Following weeks until Week 8:

The weekly Impact Werkstatt place this Friday, 3-5pm, at Henrike Lähnemann's office 41 Wellington Square, 2nd floor. You are welcome to drop by without previous arrangement but if you want to give her the chance to look at your ideas in advance, send her an email (henrike.laehnemann@mod-langs.ox.ac.uk)

Week 4:

No Impact Werkstatt this week! Back in Week 5. You are welcome to mail Henrike Lähnemann with any ideas which cannot wait until then (henrike.laehnemann@mod-langs.ox.ac.uk)

1.8 Ted Hughes: The Unauthorised Life

Friday 16 October 2015, 6-7pm

Mathematical Institute, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter, Woodstock Road

To celebrate the publication of Jonathan Bate's new biography, Ted Hughes: The Unauthorised Life we are joined by Bate, Seamus Perry and Oliver Taplin to discuss life-writing, poetry and the poet.

1.10 Oxford Lieder Festival study day: FREE student tickets

The Oxford Lieder Festival, well established as the leading festival of its kind in the UK, begins on Friday 16th October (Friday 1st week) with an academic symposium in Wadham College on the theme 'Words into Music: Poets, Composers and their Song'.

The study day will comprise short talks from an equal number of musicologists and literary scholars, both from within Oxford and across the UK, on a variety of repertoire and approaches to the study of art song. These will be scholarly presentations accessible to non-specialists, with time allocated for wider discussion, as well as for a roundtable session at the end of the day open to audience participation.

The day includes a lunchtime concert at the Holywell music room, illustrating repertoire discussed throughout the day, by the BBC New Generation Artists and ECHO Rising Star, Benjamin Appl.

Students are warmly invited to attend the study day for free, and the recital for £5 on the door.

To reserve their place at the symposium, students should send an email to Clare at schubert@oxfordlieder.co.uk with 'Student Ticket for Words Into Song' in the subject title. Students should bring ID on the day.

More detail about the day, including a full programme, is available here:

1.12 Reception for Thouron Award Scholarship - Postgraduate Study in the US 2016

A reception will be held on Tuesday 13 October 2015 for university students (British nationals only) who are interested in applying for a Thouron Award for postgraduate study at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia from September 2016

The reception arrangements are as follows:

- Keble College, Oxford <http://www.keble.ox.ac.uk/about/location>
- Tuesday 13 October 2015, presentation starts at 6pm
- Drinks and snacks will be served

The information session will include a discussion about the Award, the University of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia from previous holders of the Thouron Awards. Questions are welcomed and application documents will be available for those interested.

Up to TEN awards, each with a total value of approx. US$100,000 covering tuition fees, health insurance and living expenses, which allows for travel in the USA, will be available for British candidates who wish to pursue a postgraduate course of study at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, USA. Applications are due by 1st November 2015 for the 2016 academic year.

More details of the Thouron Awards are available via the newly refreshed website: <http://www.thouronaward.org>

The award offers a life-changing opportunity for exceptional university graduates to study at the University of Pennsylvania, an Ivy League school, providing not only a generous scholarship for post-graduate study abroad but continuing involvement with a stimulating community of international scholars and alumni. At Penn, British Scholars can choose from scores of graduate programmes and take advantage of the university's interdisciplinary culture.

The award was established in 1960 by Sir John Thouron and his American wife, Lady Thouron, to promote closer ties between the people of the United Kingdom and the United States. It is among the most prestigious and generous academic scholarships in the world, giving young people of outstanding ability and open minds the means to study, travel and immerse themselves in the life of their host country. Scholars are chosen not only for their academic achievements, but for their ability to engage with one another and take an active part in a changing world. They are expected to act as student-ambassadors, putting their energy and intellect to work strengthening the ties between two great nations.

The University of Pennsylvania is one of the leading Ivy League institutions in the United States of America and offers a wide range of postgraduate course in Arts & Sciences, Communication, Dental Medicine, Education, Engineering & Applied Science, Architecture & Regional Planning, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Social Policy, Veterinary Medicine, and all aspects of Business Management at the prestigious Wharton School.

1.18 Warburg Institute Event – Rethinking Allegory – 30th October 2015

Over the past several decades allegory has emerged as a prominent subject across a range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences. Allegory is all that traditional scholarship has said it is: a rhetorical figure, a mode of literary and artistic representation, a religious as well as secular hermeneutic practice. It is, however, much more than that: a protean cultural force which has left a deep imprint on the Western tradition, and whose full impact is only beginning to come to light. Hosted by the Warburg Institute, one of the key sites for the study of the allegorical tradition, this colloquium aims to showcase some of the most exciting research in contemporary allegory studies and further the vibrant current debate on the subject.

Speakers: Andreas Beyer (Basel), Matthias Bruhn (Humboldt University Berlin), Jason Crawford (Union), Brenda Machosky (Hawai'i – West O'ahu), Anthony Ossa-Richardson (Southampton), Kristen Poole (Delaware) and Michael Silk (King's College London).

Organisers: Karen Lang and Peter Mack (Warwick), and Vladimir Brljak (Cambridge).

3.2 Opportunity for German Language Students Summer 2016 Austria

A small English Summer Day Camp is looking for 5 - 6 Native English speakers for Summer 2016, for the camp period between July 4 and September 2, 2016. The camps are held in Mödling which is a small town next to the capital city of Austria, Vienna. The camps will run for all weeks through July to beginning of September 2016. Please specify which weeks you would like to apply for!

Each tutor might have holiday weeks in between (the exact holiday time will be decided just before your arrival; so basically you need to keep free ALL weeks you apply for) and you would be needed as a tutor in the camp weeks from 9-12.30 on Mondays to Fridays. Besides those times you will not have to do a lot, just prepare a bit for the lessons, the camp certificates for the kids etc; in total this will take about 2 hours additional time each week. The rest is free time. We have lots of materials, games, books, worksheets to use with the children so no upfront preparation is necessary! Your job is to come to Austria and use your creativity here to do good teaching using the games and materials we have!

The children will be between 7 and 14 years and although the use of German is not necessary, it can be useful at times and there will also be the opportunity for you to practise your German in a German environment. Groups are between 3 and 9 kids per tutor.

They offer free accommodation in Mödling near Vienna (apartments to be shared), including internet access and also pay some pocket money for each camp week (EUR 70, per week). You will have to buy your own food. The camps are mainly inside and more information about the camp location can be found here: www.book-cook.at

They are looking for tutors who are 18 years old or above and of course, should be interested in and enjoy working with children!

During your time here you will have a lot of free time to visit Mödling and Vienna which are both beautiful. You can find more information about Mödling here: www.moedling.at and Vienna is only 40 minutes away by public transport (which is also reasonably priced). You will also receive a bicycle to use in Mödling as it is a very friendly cycling town.

If interested please send a CV and application to wessely@gmail.com

3.3 Bi-lingual Students Wanted to Translate and Assist with Data Analysis

Sphere Insights are looking to employ bilingual students to translate and assist with data analysis from Italian to English, German to English, Russian to English and Dutch to English. Start date immediate. Flexible hours and place of work. Interested applicants can apply to Suzanne.Brown@sphereinsights.co.uk

3.4 Spanish Speakers Wanted

Broadworks, an educational publisher has an opportunity available for native Spanish speakers to do voiceover recording and they are currently looking for new native Spanish contacts to fill this position. Right now they are particularly looking for male Spanish nationals, but would be interested to hear from any interested native Spanish speakers.

Boardworks is an Oxford-based company that creates digital online resources for secondary schools in the UK. They are looking for native Spanish speakers to record audio voiceovers for some tests they are producing. This is a paid one-off job, and candidates will be required to work for between 1 and 3 hours. The criteria for the work is as follows:

- Are you a native Spanish speaker?
- Do you have a clear, expressive voice?
- Are you able to read aloud well, with good diction and expression?
- Are you able to speak Spanish at a much slower than normal rate if asked to do so, and still sound enthusiastic?
- Do you have any acting experience, teaching experience, or experience of working with children? (Desirable but not essential)
- Are you available weekdays between 9:30 and 5:30?

If you can say 'yes' to all of the above and would like to find out more, please email Rachel Belcher at rachel.belcher@boardworks.co.uk with your name and any information you feel would be relevant
