1 Introduction to the Lecture List

The list of Lectures and Classes is divided into sections for General Lectures (Section 2), the Preliminary Examination (Section 3), the Final Honour School (Section 4), and Postgraduate Courses and Seminars (Section 5).

The sections dedicated to undergraduate courses are divided into sub-sections according to the type of course to which the lectures relate. Some courses of lectures are entered under more than one section or sub-section, if they are relevant to more than one course in the Preliminary Examination or the Final Honour School.

The section dedicated to postgraduate study and research is divided into sub-sections according to type of seminar/meeting and then by research period.

Undergraduates and graduates are recommended to read through all sections of the list and not to focus narrowly on those specifically designated for particular paper options. Lectures relevant to History may also appear on other faculties’ lecture lists, which can be accessed through the University website: http://www.ox.ac.uk/students/academic/guidance/lectures. Students in Joint Schools are particularly referred to the lists for their other subject (see 3.2 below), but History undergraduates are also encouraged to browse them according to their particular interests.

1.1 Version
There may be late changes and amendments to this Lecture List. For an up-to-date version, please check the History Faculty Website (http://www.history.ox.ac.uk/faculty/events/lecture-lists.html) or WebLearn (https://weblearn.ox.ac.uk/portal/hierarchy/humdiv/history)

This version was last updated [date]

1.2 Attendance

Many lectures cover courses for which students will be taking tutorials in the same term, but some lecture-courses will take place in a different term from the tutorials, whether later or earlier. Students are encouraged to ensure that they have identified lectures relevant to them. This may particularly apply to lectures for British and General History, but also in Trinity Term to a range of other courses. Students are also encouraged to attend any lectures which catch their interest, for their own sake or to guide them in future choices of courses or topics, including for their theses.

Michaelmas Term Lecture List 2016

Non-members of the University may not attend university lectures (unless they are announced as open to the general public) without payment of a fee, otherwise than by personal invitation of the lecturer concerned. Persons who are neither reading for a qualification of this University nor otherwise exempt under special arrangements for certain categories of non-members, and who wish to attend lectures in any term, should apply to the Fees Clerk, University Offices, Wellington Square, Oxford OX1 2JD, who will provide information on the fee required. Senior visiting scholars from other universities who wish to attend lectures, seminars, or classes should normally approach the lecturer concerned directly, and not the Fees Clerk.

1.3 Timing of Lectures

Lectures begin on the first possible day after the beginning of Full Term (Sunday, 9 October) and run in Weeks 1-8 of term unless otherwise stated.

Events shown on this list are generally one hour long unless otherwise stated. Lectures will begin five minutes after the hour and finish at five minutes before the next hour.

1.4 Key to Symbols

O = Open to any university member to attend at any time
A = Open to members of the university upon application; admission at the discretion of the convenor
X = (normally) restricted to members of the university taking the appropriate paper.

Lectures are listed in the following format:

Where individual lecture topics and lecturers are listed below the main title of the lecture circus, the dates of the individual lectures are specified.
2 General Lectures

2.1 Special Lectures

Applying various endowments given for the purpose, the University invites distinguished scholars to give series or individual special lectures, on topics current to their research or of general interest. Historians from professors to undergraduates attend these lectures, which are also open more widely, and students are strongly encouraged to take the opportunity to hear what are often the first fruits of new research, which will later become important articles and books.

4.7 Disciplines of History

Core lectures for Disciplines of History take place in Hilary and Trinity terms.

4.8 Thesis

There are various events and workshops designed to help second years thinking about research topics for their Undergraduate Thesis, which take place in Hilary and Trinity Term.

5 Postgraduate Courses and Seminars

Research Students in Modern History (particularly Probationer Research Students and candidates for the M.St. in Historical Research) are reminded that they are required to attend the ‘core’ seminar relevant to their period or area of study, and that they are encouraged to attend optional subject classes for master’s programmes in History relevant to their area of research. All participants in such classes will be expected to prepare themselves for each session in the same way as those who take the class as part of their registered programme.

Students on taught courses are advised that offerings listed in the ‘research seminars’ section may be relevant to their course of study, particularly the ‘core’ seminars in the subject area of their intended course dissertation.

5.1 Research Seminars

These seminars are primarily devoted to the presentation and discussion of research findings. Papers are usually given by a mixture of external and internal speakers, including graduate students. Research seminars are divided by period on this lecture list for ease of reference.

Please see http://www.history.ox.ac.uk/research/seminars.html for detailed seminar schedules. If you cannot find a seminar schedule on the website, please email comms@history.ox.ac.uk in the first instance.

5.2.3 Language Opportunities

The History Graduate Office offers some language classes in conjunction with the Language Centre (http://www.lang.ox.ac.uk/). Usually, new graduates sign up for these before the start of their course, but current graduates are also welcome to register their interest by contacting the Graduate Office.

Various levels of teaching are offered in this context (organised as demand justifies), from Reading classes tailored to Historians (mainstream European languages), to standard Language Centre tuition in a wide range of languages (http://www.lang.ox.ac.uk/courses/lasr_guide.html), plus opportunities for self-study using the Language Centre’s resources and library. History graduates can in some cases
